PupnPak Mobile Dog Feeder

Wednesday, July 06, 2005

PupnPak is a new dog feeder that allows dog owners to carry their dog's water and food in a bone-shaped pack hung from the shoulder. The concept is an idea from Hit Designs, a New Jersey-based business.

The bag is made of water repellent, nylon fabric. It comes in black with your choice of pink or blue highlights.

"Before I would leave home my hands used to be full, now I put a bottle of water in one side of my PupnPak and food in the other side, with some room left for a toy or leash. Zip it all up, throw it over my shoulder and I'm done. When I reach my destination I unzip it, unfold it and there's everything I need for the day with my dog," said Raquel Bonassisa, owner of Hit Designs.

PupnPak retails for only $25. Donations from sales are going to Canine Companions for Independence to help train service dogs for people with disabilities. Purchase PupnPak from its website.
